

R. C. PLAUT TELLS OF NORWICH PEOPLE HE MET ON TRIP HOME

President Rutherford C. Plaut of the Plant-Cadden Co. who has just returned from his western trip, including a stay in California, from which he wrote letters full of local interest as to Norwich people.

"My trip which I recently finished, and which you, who were interested, followed me on, would not be complete were I not to tell you about the Great Northwest and the Great Canadian Northwest. It was on the 8th of April that I left San Francisco on the Southern Pacific, at the California terms it is the P. on a train that is commonly called the Oregonian. This is an up-to-the-minute express train, thoroughly equipped even to a radio telephone. It leaves San Francisco daily at 10:20 in the evening, and after two nights and

SECRET OF A GOOD DISPOSITION

A woman who carefully safeguards her health benefits her disposition. She will be happy and attractive to all. The world unfortunately is filled with sweet women who are unhappy because they are held back from usefulness by troubles so common among them. Restlessness and nervousness rapidly destroy good dispositions. Slightly ill-worn-out women can feel like happy homes.

Ledia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a safeguard of women's health. This is clearly proven by the many letters we are continually publishing in this paper from women who have been restored to health and happiness by its use after years of suffering. Why don't you try it?

one day on the train, you arrive at Portland, Oregon.

Now the scenery en route is wonderful, crossing the mountains and Mount Shasta, but I want to say right here that if the professional Californian booster had some of the scenery that we have right here within a small radius of Norwich they would make the world rave over it, and I have often wondered just how many of our home folks really appreciate what we have near us and how many have ever taken the short, but delightful trip to Dean's Mills, a wonderful spot, a short distance out of Old Mystic or have driven to the Devil's Hop Yard near Salem, or just as accessible by Colchester or have stopped to look at the grandeur of Bailey's Ravine in Franklin, or spent thirty minutes at Sunset Hill in the village of Woodstock, Conn. These are all grand spots, and if we saw them away from home we would just "rave" over them, but we are like the rest of the world. We do not appreciate what we have at our front door, and let me tell you all—don't fall— if you ever go to Dean's Mills or to Old Mystic—to drop in and see the wonderful museum of Charles Q. Eldredge. It is situated between Old Mystic and Mystic on the side of the river that the trolleys do not run on, and Mr. Eldredge will surely make it worth your while and all the expense incurred in your own time, as it is Mr. Eldredge's pleasure to take you through his wonderful museum, and take it from me, you won't regret the time so spent.

But—coming back to Portland, Oregon, seven hundred and seventy-one miles north of San Francisco, a hundred and eighty-three miles south of Seattle, and a hundred and ten miles from the Pacific Ocean, Portland covers an area of seventy square miles. It is the greatest lumber manufacturing city in the world—400,000,000 feet of big timber—one-sixth of the timber of the United States. This city ships more logs than any city in the world. It rivals New York city in wheat and wheat shipments and has frequently led the United States. Outside of Portland, at Astoria, Oregon, I visited with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Stuller (nee Grace Vetter), the daughter of Mrs. Jacob Vetter, of Plant Avenue. Astoria was founded by John Jacob Astor about one hundred and fifteen years ago. Last year they packed ten thousand cases, each case containing forty-eight cans, so you can see how they can keep themselves busy in Astoria. Everett Stuller is the manager of the Mutual Creamery Company and they have plants in eight different states. The Stullers have a very beautiful home, overlooking the wonderful harbor of Astoria. They took me for a wonderful drive over the celebrated Columbia River highway, in their wonderful Marmon car. The Columbia River highway is a wonderful piece of engineering from Portland to the Multnomah Hood River county line along forty-five miles of heavy construction of roadway, tunnels, bridges and retaining walls, at a cost to Multnomah county of approximately $1,500,000.

From here, I went to Tacoma, Washington, and I saw George Coffee, son of Mrs. James L. Coffee of Laurel Hill, and his uncle, W. B. Coffee. The latter has just retired, after several years of successful business undertakings, having amassed quite a fortune. Miss Charles Champlin, formerly of Norwich, is also there, and is very successful in her vocation as a piano teacher. Tacoma is a very beautiful home town, but a bit depressing to see so many empty stores and "for rent" signs. The hills in the residential section are so steep that they are forced to have clefts in the sidewalks to prevent one from falling. In Seattle, I saw Mr. and Mrs. Andy Kreamer, who live at 3054 West 58th street. Andy is the sales manager for an aluminum firm in Seattle and his wife was Miss Jennie Crowe, formerly of 38 Summer street, this city. They are happy and both look well and prosperous. I also took quite an auto tour with them in Mr. Kreamer's touring car.

A funny incident in connection with Mr. and Mrs. Kreamer will bear repeating. During the summer, Mr. and Mrs. Kreamer were going to Tacoma to see some auto races and were waiting for a street car to come along for Tacoma. As it is only a short distance from Seattle to Tacoma, when a large touring car pulled up to the curb and the driver of the car said to Mr. Kreamer, "Are you going to Tacoma to see the races?" He said that he was, and his wife was invited to join in and fill the empty seat in the rear of the car. Mr. and Mrs. Kreamer were talking over between themselves when in the course of the conversation, they spoke of Watch Hill, and right there and then, the driver and owner of the car became interested in the conversation and asked what Watch Hill they were referring to, as he had a sister that was summering at Watch Hill, Rhode Island, and Mrs. Kreamer said that she had to look up from Norwich, to tell him that her home was in Norwich, Connecticut. Then—right off the bat—the driver of the car said that where he came from and Mrs. Crowe (that was) said, "Are you Mr. Barlow?" and he acknowledged that he was and she told him that the only person that she had to look up from Norwich was a Mr. Ned Barlow, formerly connected with the Woolworth Company of Norwich, and that William Tanner of R. F. Smith's grocery store had asked her to look him up and—sure enough—Mr. Barlow did not place her right in his path and have Ned come right to the curb and pick these two persons out of a population of 215,852 people.

Seattle is a wonder city and is noted for having the tallest buildings in the United States outside of New York city. From Seattle I took the boat to Victoria and Vancouver and was in Vancouver on Good Friday. The saloons and bars in Vancouver are open and one experiences no trouble in quenching the thirst in any way. Since the first of the present year Vancouver has adopted driving on the right hand side of the road. They were the last district in the Dominion to adopt this method. Banf and Lake Louise were in their winter array and there is no scenery anywhere that can surpass the Canadian Rockies, and there is no service on any railway that can surpass the Canadian Railroad as to service both on the rails and their wonderful hotel system. At Calgary, I was planning to visit with Jack Brennan, a brother of William Brennan of the East Side. He lives at Blackie, in Alberta, a short distance from Calgary, but the famous telegram prevented me from doing so.

Blackie, Alta. Apr. 14-22.

Train Two berth 5, car 46, April 18, Revelstoke, B. C. Exceedingly regrettable meet you, Calgary roads absolutely impassable. Account snow storms.

Could not get into Blackie and you could not get to me. Wish you could call me on telephone from Calgary, even if it is in the middle of night. Will be on lookout for your call.

J. E. BRENNAN.

But I called him on the phone at 1:30 o'clock Easter Sunday morning. Brennan said he had as he has been waiting fourteen years for someone from Norwich to go there and visit him. This blizzard was the worst they have had in the fourteen years that he has lived there. My train was delayed by the severe storm but I had the privilege of seeing the big Mogul snow plows through the banks of snow as high as the Shannon building. At Medicine Hat, Moose Jaw and Winnipeg, Manitoba, the storm was not so severe.

At Minneapolis I saw Professor J. H. Gorman and he anticipates being in Norwich on Decoration Day to take up his place in the ranks with the "boys of '61." His son, Herbert, who has an office in the Essex building, wishes to be remembered to his many friends in Norwich. Mrs. John Nilsson, also a former resident of Norwich, lives here. Mrs. Nilsson is a sister of Mrs. Doctor F. J. Harper. She is very well and was quite anxious to hear of the doings in the "Rose of New England." If I have neglected to see any of the people, who were living in any of the places visited, it was because I had no inkling of their whereabouts, or was given a faulty address.

Letter of Appreciation.

Mr. Plaut has just received the following letter from Mrs. Elizabeth Chapman of Los Angeles, Cal., reporting that Mrs. Romeo Dupuis of 1153 Federal street, Los Angeles, upon whom Mr. Plaut called while she was in the hospital, is making a remarkable recovery from her severe illness:

Dear Sir: I am writing to let you know that Mrs. Dupuis is improving rapidly and by the time you receive this she will be at home. She is able to sit up in bed at present. A very remarkable recovery for so severe a case as hers was. They removed 338 gall stones. She was greatly surprised on Monday by receiving eight Easter cards from Norwich and more since then. Some she did not know and one was from the mayor. This was a result of your article in The Bulletin, which we have not seen yet, but hope to in due time. So she wishes to thank you and I want you to know how much good you have done by your thoughtfulness. I hear that Mr. Healy received many cards, too, and that he was greatly cheered by them. If you would tell the Bulletin editor of her improvement and how pleased she was by her friends sending the cards she would appreciate it. Thanking you for your kindness, I am sincerely

E. Riley; solo, There's Only One in My Old Tucky Home, entire chorus.

Second Part: A little clog, Mr. Oulllette; quartet, first tenor, E. Hiscok; second tenor, J. Pinkley; baritone, A. Duchette; bass, P. Flynn. Sleight of hand, by Hal Chase; Recitation, a la Camille, Matthew Eley; Ten Little Fingers and Ten Little Toes, Leclair's Jazz band.

Others who assisted were Miss Couture, Miss Gillette, Miss Marion Charlier, Diana Sharkey, Irene La Farre, Grace Sharkey and Urdic Jodoin.

After the show the crowd went to the Community house where a dance was given in honor of the visiting troupe. The proceeds will go toward the expense of the handsome new electric chandeliers recently installed in St. John's church. The committee in charge of the successful affair were made up of from church members appointed in the local council of the Knights of Columbus, the Children of Mary society and the St. Anne society. Valuable services were rendered in the transportation of the troupe by Ralph Seney, J. A. Leahy, James Muldoon, James Koway, A. Bedard, Guard Dupre and Eugene Soffey.

Albert Marriot, first class boatwain's mate on the U. S. S. Henderson, a transport, now at Norfolk, Va., is spending two weeks' furlough at his home on Lawton Heights.

At a Knights of Columbus fair held at New Britain May 1st, where $10,000 in prizes were given away, two residents of Plainfield received awards, Fred Cardinal getting the 19th prize, $50 in gold, and Miss Albertina Sevigny the 25th prize, $25 in gold.

Wednesday evening a rehearsal was held at the Community house for the minstrel revue Let's Go, in which there is to be a cast of 125.

Local Weavers' union, No. 57, held a meeting Wednesday night at the Spinners' hall, President P. H. Rollins presiding.

Plans are being made for a general clean-up week. Committees from clubs and fraternal organizations are to get together at a meeting this week to make arrangements.

Many local people have attended the carnival at Jewett City this week. Tuesday afternoon the public schools closed at 2:15, the teachers attending a meeting at Central Village.

MRS. HANRAHAN GIVES ALL THE FACTS IN CASE

Indigestion and Dizzy Spells Are Things of the Past and Rheumatism Is Almost Gone Since Taking Tanlac.

"Tanalac is the first and only medicine that helped me a particle," said Mrs. M. J. Hanrahan, 164 Fifth Street, New Haven, Conn.

"I was so crippled up with rheumatism that I was almost completely disabled. I ached and hurt all over, and had such awful pains in my shoulders, back and knees, I could hardly sleep at all. I also suffered from indigestion and constipation and had dizzy spells a great deal of the time.

"But since taking Tanlac I feel like a different person. I never suffer from indigestion. I sleep fine and never feel a touch of my former troubles except rheumatism and that hardly bothers me enough to notice it. I gladly praise Tanlac to everybody."

Tanalac is sold in Norwich by National Drug Stores Corp. and Taffville Pharmacy, and in Plainfield by Y. L. Mercier; Charles R. Carey, Jewett City, Conn.; Dearnley & Clarke, Voluntown, Conn.

North Grenoville night this week to attend the out door carnival given by Oscar Swanson Post, American Legion. This post is one of the best kept posts in this end of the state, the membership is large considering the territory embodied and the members take much interest in meetings and in all affairs planned to raise money. Interest in the Putnam post has been waning but it is hoped that the prospect of permanent quarters will attract new members and revive activity in post affairs.

Church services were omitted here last Saturday, the congregation being invited to attend the evangelistic services at Harkinton, Conn. Saturday afternoon.

Miss Hancy Brooks of Waterford, Conn., was a recent guest of Mrs. Carlton Irish.

Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Smith of Westbury, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emory C. Kenyon.

Miss Margaret Ross of Ashaway, was a recent guest of Mrs. Fred P. Ross, of Ferndale.

Mrs. H. E. Peniston who has been ill for several months is so much improved that she visited her son, Mrs. Charles Stone, at Wakefield, recently.

Miss M. L. Saunders who has been ill for several weeks is improving.
